A climate law like the Zero Carbon Act is important because...	we don't have any time to waste. Climate change is dangerous and expensive too. We live forgetting that we are a part of nature and we need to be compatible with the systems of this planet first and foremost. There are probably too many human beings on planet Earth, we therefore need to be really careful about how we live on our beautiful planet.
Long-term target	I support the most ambitious target of reducing total greenhouse gases to net zero by 2050. I also support taking a science-based approach to ensure our efforts to reduce emissions are as impactful as possible: we should aim for negative levels of long-lived gases, while reducing short-lived gases to sustainable levels. This target should be reached by reducing our own emissions and not by using international carbon credits.
Climate Commission	I support the establishment of an independent Climate Commission that is made up of experts and provides advice, but does not make final decisions.
Adaptation	I support a plan for adaptation being included in the Zero Carbon Act.
Climate justice	A Zero Carbon Act must be just and fair in that it honours Te Tiriti o Waitangi; ensures a just transition for workers and communities; and avoids passing on the costs to future generations.
Further comments	Investment now will save money in the future, if we don't put money in now then we will pay much more later on. Be wise, invest now.
