

Name	Charlotte Bebbington
Email
Phone
A climate law like the Zero Carbon Act is important because...	Climate change is continuing to destroying our planet. As economies grew so did human greed and justification to take whatever we want from our earths resources without ramification. The only way to curb this greed and prompt people to move to new earth friendly ways of living, working, trading etc that is not based on greed at the expense of our planet is to put a law in place and follow through.
Long-term target	I support the most ambitious target of reducing total greenhouse gases to net zero by 2050. I also support taking a science-based approach to ensure our efforts to reduce emissions are as impactful as possible: we should aim for negative levels of long-lived gases, while reducing short-lived gases to sustainable levels. This target should be reached by reducing our own emissions and not by using international carbon credits.
Climate Commission	I support the establishment of an independent Climate Commission that is made up of experts and provides advice, but does not make final decisions.
Adaptation	I support a plan for adaptation being included in the Zero Carbon Act.
Climate justice	A Zero Carbon Act must be just and fair in that it honours Te Tiriti o Waitangi; ensures a just transition for workers and communities; and avoids passing on the costs to future generations.
Further comments	