A climate law like the Zero Carbon Act is important because...	We need to do everything within our means to prevent pollution in our very beautiful country. NZ has in the past been very clean but has gradually deteriorated. River water is widely suspect; The stars are no longer visible from the cities and light and petrol pollution are everywhere.
Long-term target	I support the most ambitious target of reducing total greenhouse gases to net zero by 2050. I also support taking a science-based approach to ensure our efforts to reduce emissions are as impactful as possible: we should aim for negative levels of long-lived gases, while reducing short-lived gases to sustainable levels. This target should be reached by reducing our own emissions and not by using international carbon credits.
Climate Commission	I support the establishment of an independent Climate Commission that is made up of experts and provides advice, but does not make final decisions.
Adaptation	I support a plan for adaptation being included in the Zero Carbon Act.
Climate justice	A Zero Carbon Act must be just and fair in that it honours Te Tiriti o Waitangi; ensures a just transition for workers and communities; and avoids passing on the costs to future generations.
Further comments	This effects marine and avian life so deeply. Heating the sea means that marine food moves to lower levels and the pelagic feeding birds find trouble in diving down to catch their food.
