A climate law like the Zero Carbon Act is important because...

I feel it is the moral responsibility of world leading countries such as New Zealand to make a stand and set high standards especially in light of recent decisions made by so called world leaders such as the US. I also feel NZ as a country with its unique environment and glacial systems is one of those worldwide that stands to lose the most from anthropogenic induced climate change in both the short term and the long run so it is important to act now.

Long-term target

I support the most ambitious target of reducing total greenhouse gases to net zero by 2050. I also support taking a science-based approach to ensure our efforts to reduce emissions are as impactful as possible: we should aim for negative levels of long-lived gases, while reducing short-lived gases to sustainable levels. This target should be reached by reducing our own emissions and not by using international carbon credits.

Climate Commission

I support the establishment of an independent Climate Commission that is made up of experts and provides advice, but does not make final decisions.

Adaptation

I support a plan for adaptation being included in the Zero Carbon Act.

Climate justice

A Zero Carbon Act must be just and fair in that it honours Te Tiriti o Waitangi; ensures a just transition for workers and communities; and avoids passing on the costs to future generations.
