A climate law like the Zero Carbon Act is important because...

I want my children to have a future, and they won't if we keep destroying our climate the way we have been for decades. I want humans to stop destroying the climate which every other species on earth depends on. We need to take action now, and it's pathetic that more hasn't already been done.

Long-term target

I support the most ambitious target of reducing total greenhouse gases to net zero by 2050. I also support taking a science-based approach to ensure our efforts to reduce emissions are as impactful as possible: we should aim for negative levels of long-lived gases, while reducing short-lived gases to sustainable levels. This target should be reached by reducing our own emissions and not by using international carbon credits.

Carbon credits are not good enough!

Climate Commission

I support the establishment of an independent Climate Commission that is made up of experts and provides advice.

Adaptation

I support a plan for adaptation being included in the Zero Carbon Act.

Climate justice

A Zero Carbon Act must be just and fair in that it honours Te Tiriti o Waitangi; ensures a just transition for workers and communities; and avoids passing on the costs to future generations.
