Hi Tim,

I would like to urge you to make a bold statement on behalf of the people of NZ towards Climate Change. 350.org have laid out a proposal which needs to be followed with much urgency. They represent the consensus of many of the scientific community, experts in their field, and others like myself who are screaming for strong and swift action in combating climate change.

You are in a privileged and crucial position to do the right thing on our behalf and act decisively to push the agenda forward.

New Zealand is a great country to live in. We are very fortunate to live here. We enjoy the combination of both wealth and low population (relatively) compared to other countries so we are best placed to be a shining example to the rest of the world in our climate change policies.

Please act decisively. If you don't and water down any recommendations then we will hold you responsible for any future consequences. The biggest crime is committed by the person who can do something about an issue that they then choose to ignore!

Yours sincerely,

Bob Gray.
