Thank you for the opportunity to make a submission on this subject. I attended the Christchurch consultation and trust that you have taken on board the strong feelings about climate change expressed there and the need for New Zealand to make a meaningful contribution to the targets being set in Paris this year.

My submission is short and expresses exactly how I think the government should act.

1. Acknowledge the problem to the people of New Zealand
2. Tell them how they can contribute to reducing emissions and reversing the harm that has been done and – most important

3. Make us proud in Paris. We have led the world in so many areas, but not in this one. On the contrary, we are a pariah in climate change commitments. Time to reverse this. Think beyond your back pockets, be bold, make us proud.

Regards
