Submisson on the Water 2017 Consultation

Holly Pedersen

To the Environment Minister,

Its not good enough to pretend that youve made things better by shifting the standard of what you call clean water. Its deceitful. Youre taking advantage of the fact that the New Zealand public will believe you when you say youve made progress. Our rivers and our environment aren't something that is easy to get back once you've destroyed them and we should be aiming for the same standard they once use to be. Not making that standard lower and giving businesses more power to pollute them further.
